Picture yourself...

The possibilities are endless. Picture yourself anywhere in the world, doing anything you want and experiencing whatever appeals to you. It is all up to you. At SUA the possibilities are also endless. When you first picture yourself at SUA, the image may seem blurry or out of focus, but give yourself time to develop and the picture will eventually become clear. Every student at SUA helps to develop the full picture of what SUA life is all about.

Freshman year can be compared to the blurry stage of a developing picture. Things are new and exciting but also a little scary. But your new big sis, teachers, and of course all the new friendships you form help to make you feel more comfortable and a part of things.

During Sophomore year things are starting to develop, like the outlines and dimensions of the developing picture. You are not a Freshman anymore and you feel more involved with the school. In your Sophomore year you have your first taste of responsibility at SUA by organizing St. Ursula Day, which is an event that is important to the school and is traditionally organized by the Sophomore class. And of course the most important thing about Sophomore year is that you will soon be 16 and able to DRIVE!

In your Junior year the picture is almost complete. You are an upperclassman now and you have been promoted "upstairs". This year you will go to your first prom, receive your class ring, start thinking about college and of course look forward to the days when you will be a SENIOR.

Finally in your Senior year the picture is fully developed. GRADUATION is right around the corner (of course every Senior knows the exact number of days left) and before you know it you will be college bound. Senior year is your last year for intramurals but probably the most memorable because of the half-time show. It is the last year you will have to worry about matching your socks and sweaters or getting to class in three minutes. Yet it is also the last year you will spend with your friends, but through the years you will look back at the friendships you made here and realize how special they made your high school years.

Perhaps then, years after you have graduated, you will be able to look back to when the picture seemed blurry or unclear and see that things were not as bad as they seemed. So, while the picture is still incomplete, sit back and see what develops.

Hi Jennifer and Rhonda!

... out of the ordinary

The bewitching Mrs. Paikofski

Run Daphne!

It all began October 28 and ended November 1. Packed in those five days were sailor day, dress-up day, mask day, sweats day, and hee-haw day. SUA students were seen running up and down the halls in sailor hats, in bold class colors, in old blue jeans and flannel shirts, and arrayed for Halloween. Lockers were decorated by big and little sisses, and all the classes expressed their spirit by decorating their respective halls.

The eagerly awaited powder-puff football games occurred on Thursday and Friday. Thursday pitted big sis against little sis. After a valiant effort the Seniors were defeated by the Sophomores 18 to 12. The Juniors vs. Freshmen found the Juniors coming out on top 21 to 14. Friday everyone was psyched for the final games. It ended with the Juniors and Sophomores tying for first at 21 all. The Freshmen and Seniors placed third and fourth respectively.

Aside from all the spirit building activities, Spirit Week was a time to grow closer to your classmates. It was also an opportunity to spend time together, and see each other out of the ordinary school atmosphere. When it all came together Spirit Week was five fast-paced days filled with lots of laughter and fun times.

Saint Ursula Day is held in honor of Angela Merici, the founder of the Ursuline Sisters. As a tradition at Saint Ursula, the sophomore class puts on a presentation to share their ideas about the Ursuline order and how it came about. The class of '88 put on a skit with a back to the past theme. They traveled in a time machine back to the time when Angela Merici was starting the Ursuline order. The energetic class of '88 changed the course of history for the Ursuline sisters so they could be what they are today.

Through this tradition of the sophomore class presentation, they feel a spirit of unity and pride because it demands a lot of time and effort to think of something different on a subject that occurs every year. Saint Ursula Day provides a time for the sophomores and the whole student body to feel united in their prayers for the thanks they feel for Angela Merici for founding the Ursulines who ultimately founded our school, Saint Ursula Academy.

... serene and in touch

Picture yourself listening to the talented voices of SUA leading the school in many songs while giving thanks for all our blessings. This is just one of the settings that take place every month during SUA's liturgies.

There are over fifteen different denominations that represent the 530 girls of St. Ursula Academy. At liturgies, anyone can be involved in the celebration, either by bringing up the gifts or just enjoying the music.

Liturgies at SUA are very important and also very beautiful. They have always been an important part of SUA life and are a nice way for the school to come together and give thanks.

... on the job

"Your change is $1.42 . . . Thank you . . . Have a nice day." How many times have you spoken these words, forcing a smile through gritted teeth? If you are one of the many SUA students with a part-time job, perhaps these words come all too familiar to you. Students have discovered that a job helps them gain experience, new friends, and, probably most importantly, MONEY.

In a random survey, girls were asked what their reasons were for getting a job. Some replied that they wanted money for clothes, movies, and other luxuries. For others it wasn't a matter of choice. Senior Melinda Anderson started working at the end of her junior year to save money for college.

Although money may be one of the primary benefits of a job, there are countless others. Many find that working in a restaurant or other public place is an excellent way to meet new and interesting people. Some added that a job in high school gives you a taste of the "real world" and can help you decide what kind of occupation you might want in the future.

Whether it's caddying at Sylvania Country Club or making french fries at good old McDonald's, working women from SUA have found a reliable and profitable way of making money. In addition to big bucks, other invaluable gifts are gained such as responsibility, freedom, and friendships.

Greece, Summer '85

... somewhere else

Close your eyes. Can you hear the sounds? Maybe you're hearing the traffic of a bustling European city, or perhaps you hear the roaring of white water. Can you smell the scents? Fresh French bread or delicious Italian pastas tease your nose, or perhaps you smell a West Virginia river feast. Do all the sensations come flooding back? Are the sights, sounds, and smells suddenly invading your mind? Trips are an enriching part of our lives, and the memories we have of them remain a part of us long after our suitcases have been unpacked and stored away.

This past summer the French classes toured France and the Latin classes explored Italy and Greece. Jennifer Umbles and Amy Price were two members of the French class to make the trip. Jennifer said, "French trip was a nice learning experience for all of us. We had a lot of free time to explore and have fun." Amy had a slightly different perspective, and stated, "The guys on the beaches were tres beaux!" One senior who went to Italy is Amie Fallat. "The one thing I'll never forget was getting lost in Rome with Talitha and Tammy," she stated.

Fall of 1985 found the Class of '86 braving the white water of the New River in West Virginia. It was a fantastic experience for everyone involved. Sue DeCook enthused, "Going through the rapids was the best part. It was exciting living on the edge."

Oftentimes the hardest part of taking a trip is coming home again, leaving places and newfound friends behind. The next time you have a longing for "somewhere else," just close your eyes and picture yourself there.

... a co-ed

Imagine St. John's or St. Francis without St. Ursula. Picture a school without flag corps, cheerleaders, band, musicals, plays, or even dances.

St. Ursula contributes more to the two schools than most people realize.

The St. Francis cheerleaders not only cheer at the football and basketball games, but also make signs, decorate halls, and attend pep rallies. A majority of their free time is spent at SFS practicing and helping out.

The flag corps practiced everyday after school during the football season, and were an integral part of the SFS band.

SUA also supports the St. John's band. Members of the band practiced after school, and would perform during the football games.

The annual musicals rely on the girls for both major and bit parts. Without their support, musicals such as Seven Brides for Seven Brothers, and South Pacific would not be possible. The St. John's plays, produced in the fall, also depend on the involvement of SUA girls.

Finally, imagine an SJ or SFS dance without SUA girls. It would be like Charles without Diana or Ron without Nancy.

"Left back! All forward! C'mon, faster!" commands your guide just before you go over that first gentle fall into the rapids below. The water sprays into your face and over the side of the raft. You're tossed and bounced around and then you're through, laughing, wet, and ready to face the next rapid. However, battling the whitewater of the New River in West Virginia was only a part of the 1985-86 Senior Class trip.

After our first day on the river we arrived at our camp site. Set up for us were tents, and a clothesline to hang our beloved wetsuits on. The food prepared for us by Barb and Billy was fantastic, and made even better by their West Virginian hospitality. That night was spent around the campfire telling stories and talking.

The next day we tackled the remainder of the river, which entailed the major rapids. One of the highlights of the day was dragging Mr. Mass out of his raft and into the river during one of our numerous water fights. These were a blast, with only self-defense in mind. Everyone ended up in the river at some point, even our guides were hauled overboard.

The group of guys who guided us down the river had the neatest personalities, being content to live on $5,000.00 a season because they love what they are doing. They kept us laughing at crazy jokes, and told us wild stories which we never knew whether or not to believe. After lunch on the final day they had a huge food fight, using up what remained of the baked beans and mustard in quite creative ways.

As we boarded the bus that would take us on to Charleston we found it easy to say good-bye to our wetsuits and lack of running water, but oh-so very hard to leave the river and our guides. As the director of NARR said just before we left, "They'll be talking about this one for a long time." Well, so will we.

The class of '86 prepared the annual Turkey Trot dinner for the faculty and administration on November 21, 1985. During the day the halls were filled with the mouth-watering aroma of roasting turkeys, which were prepared by volunteer seniors under the excellent supervision of Mrs. Dennis Lynch.

That night the faculty, administration, their families, and the seniors arrived in the school cafeteria, which had been transformed into a room worthy of a Thanksgiving feast. They then lined up and began to dig into the wonderful vegetables, salads, desserts, and of course turkey that the seniors had prepared for them. After everyone was feeling as stuffed as the turkeys had been, it was time for the entertainment.

The class of '86 put on quite a show using the theme "Blue Orchid Night Club." The songs varied widely, ranging from Motown to classical and from Broadway to contemporary. Said Mrs. Goebel of the evening, "The cafeteria looked elegant, the food was delicious, and the after-dinner show was the frosting on the cake."

Senior Abby "Say Brenda, did you know that tomorrow is senior retreat?"

Senior Brenda "Sure Abby, this year we go to the Anderson's building."

Senior Abby "I heard they're going to have donuts, coffee, pop, pizza and snacks, and we can wear whatever we want."

Senior Brenda "Yes, but that's not important Abby. This retreat is going to help us relax, and also try to get us in touch with ourselves. And finally to put this year and next year into perspective."

Senior Abby "Gee, that sounds kind of serious don't you think?"

Senior Brenda "Oh it'll be fun too, we play some games, sing, and get to talk to our classmates too!"

Senior Abby "Well, that sounds pretty good. See you tomorrow!"

... a Shakespearian scholar

My heart pounds, my palms are sweaty and feel like silly putty on a warm, warm day, the weights under my eyes grow heavier and it is an effort to keep them even barely open.

The printed words of Chaucer began to grow fuzzy at about 2:45 in the morning, but by sheer effort (and some coffee), I managed to get through my endless review.

But will all that studying pay off? Will I do well on an exam that contains material that I know I know, but can't seem to remember?

As I look back, I regret that I had only studied for immediate regurgitation of the material instead of for permanent knowledge. My 'review' would have then been merely a review instead of a learning experience.

But now is the test, merely a comprehensive review, but my muddled mind contorts the easiest of all names like Milton. I now believe that he wrote Fantasy Island instead of Paradise Lost, and that Herrick is an Anglo-Saxon warlord.

But wait, isn't iambic pentameter a type of disease? Or could it really be a verse form?

Maybe I shouldn't have taken that five minute break to watch the last part of the Letterman show ...

... With a Case of Senioritis

Yes, once again that notorious epidemic has swept through SUA. What is the epidemic you ask? Well its victims are all members of the senior class of '86. For some mysterious reason it waits to strike its fatal blow until the long awaited senior year of high school finally arrives.

The cause of this quite contagious disease is the ever growing frustration of being expected to live, participate and be content in a high school atmosphere. When in actuality, your thoughts and hopes are yearning for and anticipating a future that is bigger and better. Yet, most importantly, one that allows independence. In short, the cause is wanting to be college-bound!

How can you tell if you have fallen victim to this rapidly spreading disease? Check to see if you possess any of these symptoms frequently seen among the seniors at SUA. (As illustrated at the right by several of the seniors.)

— You are late for school and classes.

— You begin to question the rules and regulations of the school.

— Your uniforms have no pleats in them and look as if they haven't seen an iron since your junior year.

— You experience an incredible urge to sing in the cafeteria.

— D.R. becomes your nickname.

— College applications seem to become your date for Friday and Saturday night.

— It becomes impossible to complete your homework with each passing day as the disease worsens.

As you mark off the days on your calendar the sickness becomes increasingly worse. Finally, when it has reached its peak in May, relief appears. What is this cure?

... out on the town

"What are you doing tonight?", echoes down the empty halls Friday after 2:54. That's all that was heard all day long and the main answers seemed to be; "I don't know", "The game," or for the unlucky ones, "I have to babysit." It seems the social life of an S.U.A. student falls into these three categories. For the "I don't knows" — one usually decides right before walking out the door, the movies. That favorite American $4.50 pastime. "The game" could be any number of possibilities, St. John's or St. Francis to name a couple. And for those who babysit — they can all tell their own tragic stories I'm sure. But of course, we can't forget the ever popular Senior Roadtrips to various colleges.

"Most Watched Soaps"

... Making Merry

It was merry mistletoe time, and all through the week the Seniors were stirring. They held their Christmas party at the house of Molly Lynch on December 15. Each Senior was asked to bring a dish to pass, and a delicious ham was prepared by Mrs. Lynch. The house was merrily decorated in the spirit of the holiday season, and even had two brightly lit Christmas trees. Everyone had a great time, either watching movies, talking about the eagerly awaited Christmas vacation, or eating all the delicious food.

The other merry making activity the Seniors had planned was a meeting with the jolly ol' elf himself. Santa hooked Rudolph up to his sleigh, and took time out of his hectic schedule to pose with the Seniors for pictures. Just about everyone got into the action and smiled with Santa for the camera. After it was all over Santa remarked that he would be sure to put something special in the Seniors' stockings since they were such an awesome class.

Below: "All right guys, I know I have a big mouth but this is ridiculous!" comments Nancy Henkel while decorating the Senior Hall for Christmas.

... with the man of your dreams.

The perfect date. Every girl dreams about one. The perfect guy. Every girl has her own idea of what the perfect guy should be like. The class of '86 is one group of girls who know what they want in their men. When the class was polled, this is what they had to say about the perfect guy.

The first things that attracts them to a guy are his eyes, body and his looks in general. The qualities they look for are a sense of humor, kindness, a romantic nature, and understanding. When asked about what they felt would be the "perfect" date the most popular reply was a candlelight dinner, then either to a play or movie, and to end it a stroll along the beach or some romantic place. When the question, "Who would you most like to be stranded on a deserted island with?" the overwhelming response was to be with their boyfriend.

The top three favorite male stars for the class of '86 were, first — Rob Lowe, second — Michael J. Fox, and third — Mark Harmon.

According to the class, these three qualify as the "perfect" guy.

Responsibility. Anxiety attacks. Planning. Spirit. Rewarding. These are just a few of the words that describe being a class officer. There are many responsibilities and hopes placed on you by your class and the administration. This of course leads to intense knots in your stomach accompanied by headaches — otherwise known as anxiety attacks. Yet despite all the things that can and sometimes do go wrong, when an activity comes together and your class has a good time, there is a feeling of fulfillment. There is nothing more rewarding than planning something that brings others happiness. In fact that is what being a class officer is all about, bringing spirit and joy to your classmates.

. . . Keeping the Spirit Alive

The day finally came, a special day that juniors could really get excited about. A chance for everyone to see that glistening spark of symbolism wrapped personally around her finger. That's Junior Ring Ceremony!

The Class of '87 was proud to have fun-loving Fr. Henning to help celebrate. He gave us a warm handshake, and blessed our unique rings.

It was kind of dreary outside, but inside the smiling faces and warm friendliness showed the togetherness and spirit of the Class of '87. Tammy Logue said, "I felt proud when I went up to get my class ring — proud to be a junior!"

Classmates welcomed us with prayer, thought, and even a song sung by Sara Lindberg, Ronnie Young, and Jean Reed that made many juniors smile.

Selecting a class ring lets a junior show her personality, uniqueness, and class spirit. This spirit of friendliness and warmth makes it a thrill to be part of the Class of '87!

Homecoming 1985

The weather was dreary. Rain was drizzling down from the gray sky. The Homecoming candidates from St. John's were trying to keep dry at Rogers' stadium, while the St. Francis court was snug in the Glass Bowl press box.

Halftime. Usually the low point of the night, when the only thing to do is sit and wait for the band to finish and the game to resume.

But tonight was different, halftime was the focus of the game. Most people find their thoughts turning toward halftime and away from the game.

Tonight is the culmination of four years of dedication, spirit, and support for a school that the candidates don't attend, but still feel a part of.

At halftime, the queen is announced and the screams, cheers or disappointed sighs are heard from the crowd.

For many, it is an honor to be considered for court, and those finally chosen represent the ideals established by the school. Karey Gabel, Joelle Karpinski, and Jackie Lora were chosen by St. Francis, while Micki Jordan represented St. Johns.

Dancing in the Dark

Last November 16, 1985, the Student Council held their annual Student Council dance at St. Ursula Academy in their decorated gymnasium. This yearly dance is sponsored by the Student Council, and the ladies of St. Ursula Academy.

The ladies were semi-formally attired, with most wearing the now popular tea length dresses, or long angular suits. The gentlemen wore coats and ties, with most adorned in the always neat and acceptable preppy look, consisting of a tweed coat and a thin tie.

The main emphasis this year was not upon the dress, but rather upon the accessories that were worn with the outfits. The most popular included brooches, pearls, antique and costume jewelry, and patterned hosiery. Other popular additions were unique handbags that complimented the outfit.

As is the custom at the St. Ursula Student Council Dance, a lady is named as Student Council Queen. This year's nominees were Seniors Melinda Anderson, Laurie Collins, Cindy Connor, Donna Gentle, Molly Lynch, and Lori Strasser. At 10:00 pm, the Queen, Cindy Connor was crowned and danced with her escort Troy Montgomery, a University of Toledo student.

The event was chaperoned by parents of St. Ursula students, and the performing band was Universe.

... competitively together

It is the week that every St. Ursula student waits for. It means SUMMER VACATION is on the way, but most of all, it represents the height of SUA spirit. Intramurals lasts only one week, but in the five short days, a years' worth of energy is put out.

On Monday, March 3, a lunch exchange between the big sisses and little sisses was held. Tuesday, white legs and bright shorts roamed the halls, and the Student Council held a beach party in the gym during lunch studies for Beach Day.

On Wednesday, which was Theme Day; Farmers, Clowns, Generics, and various Celebrities showed up at SUA. Sweat Day allowed for yet another relaxing day on Thursday, and on Friday, a movie, "Singing in the Rain" was shown in the gym.

But, Thursday and Friday nights were the most important. on Thursday, the Senior Celebrities defeated the Sophomore Circus 37 to 22, and the Junior Generics beat the Freshman Farmers 33 to 9.

In the runner-up game on Friday the Sophomores won 25 to 15 over the Freshmen, and the Seniors were declared Intramural champions after defeating the Juniors 24 to 15.

Awesome. Simply awesome. This expression sums up perfectly the 1985 tennis team's season. The team really showed their awesome talent at the city championships in October. The team took second place in the city out of twelve teams in the city league. The varsity coach again this year was Mary Kay Bass, who has now lead the team to its third winning season. In the regular season they had two very exciting wins over their archrivals McAuley and Central. Lisa Namay summed it all up when she had this to say about the team's season, "Spirit, determination, success and plenty of good times made this season an unforgettable one."

Young, determined, talented and spirited are a few words that really tell you about this year's J.V. tennis team. The J.V. coach, Miss Sandra Kenna, coaching her third season, commented, "This year's team was a very young team which was made up of six freshmen. Although we weren't as successful as last year, the unity and spirit of this team really pulled us through. Because the team was very young I expect them all back next year, with several moving up to the varsity level." Juniors, Kristin Gill and Kristen Eriksen, were this year's co-captains who Miss Kenna felt showed good leadership and team spirit.

... a spike above the rest

The white ball comes whirling over the net and SUA's volleyball team goes into action. A bump, then a set, and finally the awesome spike that sends their opponents running for cover. The 1985 season found the varsity and J.V. volleyball teams in excellent form.

This year SUA's volleyball teams each had outstanding seasons. Coached by Ross Anderson and co-captained by Sue Jun and Deidre Ragan, the varsity team placed third in their division, and was 8 and 11 overall. Sue Jun said of the season, "More than anything I feel we became closer as a team. I wish I was staying, because the team will be even better next year." The J.V. team crushed its opposition, finishing 12 and 6 for the season. The team was led through this excellent season by coach Rich Paat and co-captains Becky Bamford and Joan Kosar.

The team, which only four years ago was a club, now boasts a varsity team which ended the season with a record of 9 wins, 4 losses, and 3 ties. Coached by Jim Strasser and Mike Goettner, the team defeated arch-rival Notre Dame and tied the powerful Findlay Trojans.

The captains of the team were Louise Berning and Lori Strasser, both seniors. Amy Smith won the Most Valuable Player award, and Louise Berning was voted the Most Improved. One of the largest organized sports at SUA is the Track Team. In addition to this is SUA's new Cross Country Team which began officially this past fall.

The Track Team's season begins in the spring and runs until early summer. Last year the team consisted of about thirty members and was coached by Juana King.

SUA's five member Cross Country Team is coached by Debbie Gibson. All of the team members are freshmen except for Jenny Shumaker, a senior. Although they didn't win any of their four meets, Cities, or Districts, Jenny says she's just thankful that "we never came in last."

SWIMMERS . . . TAKE YOUR MARK . . . SET . . . BANG! The gun goes off and the S.U.A. swimmers fight their way to take the lead. Lap after lap, practice after practice, muscle ache after muscle ache the Arrows stay dedicated to their sport. Although this year the team is very young, they are very dedicated and spirited too. When the members were asked to describe their spirit they replied positively. Shannon McGarity said, "We have great team spirit!" Missi Langendorfer was also very positive about the team saying, "We are very spirited! At meets we do a lot of cheering each other on!"

Along with our dedicated swimmers, S.U.A. has two very talented divers, Chrysta Lindberg and Margie Stoll. Although the team does not get much student support, Arvette Leaman says, "We have great parent support. We don't really mind not having a lot of student support! We have a lot of fun!" Seeing these young, awesome Arrows to victory are coaches Anne Urshel and Jeannie Westhoven, who have both been with the Arrows for quite some time.

Dribble Dribble Shoot, take that ball to the hoop! The S.U.A. basketball program is full of enthusiasm and talent this year. The varsity team has improved considerably, as is apparent in the 1985-86 scoreboard. When Schylar Meadows, a Varsity member, was asked about the team she replied, "It has definitely been a memorable experience — to say the least. I had a lot of fun!" "The attitudes are a big plus, it's what keeps the team together and helps us win," says senior Lisa Namay, also a Varsity member. Junior Varsity Coach Don Masztak feels very strongly about the ability of his girls, wherein he chose 12 girls with varied abilities. "We played 19 games, and the same 5 girls never started together, everyone got experience." Miss Kenna, Varsity coach, says "I enjoyed the year. We had our good moments and our bad moments. I think we worked well together." Coach Kenna feels that next year will be a great year for the Varsity team.

We would like to introduce to you, the newest member to our sporting activities here at SUA, and that's Bowling. Yes gals, we do have a bowling team and we've got to give these few girls a lot of credit!

One team member, Jody Aldrich, from the Class of '88, expresses her interest. "Bowling is great competition! It's been a hobby of mine since the 4th grade when my Mom encouraged me to bowl. I like to show my talent!"

Bowling is a unique sport for many because it is played the whole school year. Whether you're bowling or cheering the team on, there is no need to worry about rainy or chilly conditions!

The Scroll pays tribute to the only SUA sport for all seasons.

... Going that extra mile

The track team is one of the newer sports programs here at SUA. Each year the team has increased in size and has continued to develop into a strong program. This year's team is comprised of only a few Seniors, making it one that will receive plenty of experience for next year.

Since the end of February the team has been conditioning in preparation for the season that began in the spring. When many people think of a track meet they picture only running events, yet track meet also have shot put, long jump and high jump competitions. This year hopes to be a promising and successful season for the 1986 track team.

... Catching flies

Above: Coach Sandra Kenna displays a happy smile while thinking about the successful season that lies ahead.

You're up to bat, bases are loaded, the score is tied, there are two outs and two strikes against you. Now most softball players would choke under such circumstances, but such is not the case if you are an SUA softball player. Softball is also one of the newer sports programs here at SUA and Miss Sandra Kenna, will again, coach this year's team.

Softball practices, which began in March, not only gave the player's a chance to work on their form but conditioned them to be able to withstand those long games under the hot sun. This year's season began in April and is one that the SUA softball team hopes will be successful.

... receiving an encore

Our thanks to the SUA gals who carry a banner of "comedy and tragedy." These are the students who belong to the Drama Club. They faithfully support all theater activities in our school.

Without these talented gals, the SUA play would not exist! St. Ursula presents a play every year and the Drama Club steps in to lend a hand with lights, costumes, props, and much more!

The group often gets together for a night on the town like going to a major musical production at the Masonic Auditorium.

SUA smiles sure do glow when students are asked to become a part of a unique group, and association called National Honor Society.

National Honor Society is a special achievement organization that chooses students who have a high scholastic average. Yet this gift is only part of the requirements for NHS. Leadership, character, and helping the community are large parts in being accepted. Remaining active in school activities, giving a helping hand for a teacher or student, involvement in school spirit, and volunteering at a nursing home can all be ways of involvement in NHS.

The Ursuline

Vol. XLIII

St. Ursula Academy, Toledo, Ohio

September 1985 — June 1986

The staff published nine issues of The Ursuline this year, including special intramural and senior issues. The seventh period newspaper class and the sixth period Journalism class helped to put out the four to eight page publication which was printed by Herald Printers in Toledo. The paper also focused on broad issues such as record rating and teenage pressures.

Being one of three people who had worked on a yearbook before, all I could think of when I walked into the yearbook room for the first time this year was, 'this is going to take forever to teach everyone how to do everything that is involved in a yearbook'. But I am sure glad that they proved me wrong. They not only learned fast but they learned WELL! With the help of our experienced advisor, Mrs. Sheila Asendorf. She taught me new techniques that helped make my job easier. I would like to thank my staff, the students in the commercial art class, Mrs. Asendorf, and my co-editor Kathy, for helping make this an OUTSTANDING yearbook!!!

Sincerely,
Jill Brown
Co-Editor

As co-editor of the Yearbook I would like to take this opportunity to express my gratitude to the school, staff, Mrs. Asendorf, and the best co-worker ever, Jill Brown. I walked into the Yearbook room six months ago as a novice but through experience, hard work and a lot of help I am proud to represent this year's successful publication. Many of us were beginners this year, but we were a dedicated staff, working for a spirited school. Luckily, where we fell short, Mrs. Asendorf made up for us in all her years of experience.

This year's staff brought numerous changes to the yearbook such as the Student Index, spot color, and the quality of copy. We all worked very hard and we hope that you enjoy it just as much as we enjoyed producing it!

Thank you,

Kathy Binham
